

Open and Closed Syllable Door Activity

- 1 Using scissors or an Exacto knife, cut along the dotted line for each word. (Be sure you do not cut the final letter completely off; it should remain attached to the word.)
- 2 To read each Closed Syllable word, do not bend the final letter back. To make each word into an Open Syllable, fold the final letter back so that it bends away from the vowel letter. This leaves the vowel letter as the final letter in each word.
- 3 Have students open and close each “door” to pronounce the words as either Open Syllables with long vowel sounds or Closed Syllables with short vowel sounds.

Open and Closed Syllable Door Activity

- 1 Using scissors or an Exacto knife, cut along the dotted line for each word. (Be sure you do not cut the final letter completely off; it should remain attached to the word.)
- 2 To read each Closed Syllable word, do not bend the final letter back. To make each word into an Open Syllable, fold the final letter back so that it bends away from the vowel letter. This leaves the vowel letter as the final letter in each word.

- 3 Have students open and close each “door” to pronounce the words as either Open Syllables with long vowel sounds or Closed Syllables with short vowel sounds.

web

sob

hit

hem