Vowels and Consonants

Today we are going to be talking about two different types of letters in the alphabet.

The first group of letters is very small and only consists of five letters. This group of letters is known as the vowels.

Say it with me, vowels. The vowel letters are the letters A, E, I, O, U. If you see one of these letters, you can know that they are vowels.

To help us remember that these are vowel letters, they will be written in the color red.

The next group of letters are a very big group because they consist of all the other letters in the alphabet, that are not A E I O U.

This group of letters is known as consonants. Say it with me, consonants. To remember that these are consonant letters, they will be written in the color black.

Now you know about the two types of letters in the alphabet.

The small group of letters known as the vowels and the large group of letters, the consonants.
